I

Announcer - For many years following the revolutionary war ending in 1778, many nations of which the young United States was no exception had paid tribute in gold to the Barbary States for permitting their foreign trade to pass the adjoining waters un molested. Many American families had lost their fortunes and ship owners their ships, and many citizens, captured by the pirates, were either languishing in filthy Tripolitan prisons or serving as slaves to the unscrupulous Arabs and Moors.

Public sentiment finally became sufficiently aroused that the congress authorized the building of 6 frigates, of which number, the CONSTITUTION was one. This was the beginning of our Navy. Following the ideas and leadership of George Washington, plans were drawn up by George Claghorne, and the construction of the ship was soon begun. She was built by that able Naval Constructor, Joshua Humphries, who was assisted by several naval officers, in Boston and was finally launched in Hartt's Shipyard in the fall of 1797.

II (Pause 7 seconds)

Announcer - It was indeed an auspicious occasion when the time arrived for the departure of the CONSTITUTION from Boston under the command of that most able Commodore, Edward B. Preble. Thousands of men, women, and children crowded the dock to bid her farewell, and indeed, in the minds of many, it was farewell.

Open to those veterans honorable discharged from the Union army, G.A.R. lobbied for veterans’ rights, founded soldier’s homes, and pushed pension legislation before being succeeded by one of their affiliate organizations, the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War. Tytler’s relationship to the G.A.R.—if any—is unclear.

San Pedro, California.

Dear Mr. Tytler:-

No doubt you will be greatly surprised to hear from me, but as the enclosed photostat copy of my very good friend, Commander Louis J. Gulliver explains, I am a very enthusiastic collector of all covers in connection, with that grand old Frigate, the U.S.S. Constitution, on which you served, and during the four and one half years that I have been working on this collection, have added the autographs of many prominent Naval men, and sincerely trust that I may have the pleasure of adding yours also.

I am taking the liberty of enclosing three covers from this collection, and would highly appreciate your writing your autograph in the place indicated on each, and returning them to me at your earliest possible convenience, in the self-addressed and stamped envelope enclosed for this purpose.

This collection of mine has involved a great deal of work, as well as plenty of writing, however the very kind co-operation extended by everyone to date has been most gratifying, and has spurred me on into making it just as complete as possible.

I enter the same in various Philatelic Exhibitions held thruout the country from time to time, where it has caused much favorable comment, and I have hopes of showing it at the Annapolis Naval Academy one of these days.

Hoping that you will oblige me with this very great favor, and thanking you in advance for all your trouble, and very kind co-operation, I remain,

Very Cordially Yours,

Oscar Hengstler

OLD IRONSIDES

Ay, tear her tattered ensign down!
Long has it waved on high,
And many an eye has danced to see
That banner in the sky;
Beneath it rung the battle shout,
And burst the cannon's roar;—
The meteor of the ocean air
Shall sweep the clouds no more.

Her deck, once red with heroes' blood,
Where knelt the vanquished foe,
When winds were hurrying o'er the foam,

And waves were white below,
No more shall feel the victor's tread,
Or know the conquered knee;—
The harpies of the shore shall pluck
The eagle of the sea!

Oh! better that her shattered hull
Should sink beneath the wave;
Her thunders shook the mighty deep,
And there should be her grave;
Nail to the mast her holy flag,
Set every threadbare sail,
And give her to the god of storms,
The lightning and the gale!

HOW CONSTITUTION MADE HISTORY

1794

March 27—Authorized by Congress. Designed by Joshua Humphreys and laid down at Hart's shipyard, Boston, under direction of Col. George Claghorn.

1797-98

Oct. 21, 1797—Launched. March 27, 1797, money appropriated for her completion. July 2, 1798, first moved under sail.

1801-07

Flagship of Mediterranean squadron, under Commodore Preble, Barron and Rodgers. Engaged in war with Tripoli, 1801-05.

1812

Aug. 19—Captured H.M.S. Guerriere. Dec. 29—Captured H. M. S. Java.

1814

Feb. 14—Captured H. M. S. Pictou. April 3—Escaped capture by two British frigates. Blockaded in Boston for eight months.

1815

Feb. 29—Captured H. M. S. Cyane and H. M. S. Levant.

1828-31

In idleness at Boston. Condemned and ordered broken up or sold. Oliver Wendell Holmes' poem "Old Ironsides" aroused public indignation and saved her.

1844-46

Cruise around world.

1871-76

Rebuilt at Philadelphia navy yard.

1878-79

Carried United States exhibits to Havre for Paris Exposition. Last cruise to foreign waters.

1879-81

Last active cruise. Training ship for apprentice boys.

1897-1907

Towed to Boston for her centennial. Laid up on exhibition. Recommended in 1901 that she be used for a target, but public indignation prevented such action.

1926-31

Rebuilding at Navy yard, Boston. Went into commission July 1, 1931, completely restored at total cost of about $800,000 raised largely by school children's donations.

1933

On tour of Pacific ports of United States.

OLD IRONSIDES

Ay, tear her tattered ensign down!
 Long has it waved on high,
 And many an eye has danced to see
 That banner in the sky;
 Beneath it rung the battle shout,
 And burst the cannon's roar;—
 The meteor of the ocean air
 Shall sweep the clouds no more.

Her deck, once red with heroes' blood,
 Where knelt the vanquished foe,
 When winds were hurrying o'er the flood,
 And waves were white below,
 No more shall feel the victor's tread,
 Or know the conquered knee;—
 The harpies of the shore shall pluck
 The eagle of the sea!

Oh! better that her shattered bulk
 Should sink beneath the wave;
 Her shrouds shook the mighty deep,
 And there should be her grave;
 Nail to the mast her holy flag,
 Set every threadbare sail,
 And give her to the god of storms,
 The lightning and the gale!

—Oliver Wendell Holmes, 1900

1. Commander Lewis J. Gulliver. The other officers of the Constitution are: Lieutenant Commander Henry Hartley, Lieutenant Harry St. J. Butler, Lieutenant John Y. Duaneberg, Lieutenant John R. McKinney, Lieutenant (jg) David W. Tolson, Lieutenant Harry D. Templeton, (MC) and Lieutenant William J. Dean, (SC).
 2. After colors. Commander Gulliver seated at desk. On the table in the foreground the treaty of peace was signed that ended the war between U. S. and Barbary Pirates, 1805. 3. The launching of U. S. F. Constitution at Hart's shipyard Boston Oct. 23, 1795. 4. The helm. In heavy weather it takes four men to make "Old Ironsides" answer with her rudder. 5. Close-up of bow and rigging. 6. A spar deck carronade. Above the gun are seen a bottle lantern, gun sponge, rammer and extractor. 7. Commodore's fore cabin with ancient furnishings. 8. The ancient carronade. 9. Looking forward on the port side of the spar deck. The guns shown are carronades.

HOW CONSTITUTION MADE HISTORY

- 1794
 March 27 - Authorized by Congress. Designed by Joshua Humphreys and laid down at Hart's shipyard, Boston, under direction of Col. George Claghorn.
- 1797-98
 Oct. 21, 1797 - Launched. March 27, 1797, money appropriated for her completion. July 2, 1798, first moved under sail.
- 1803-07
 Flagship of Mediterranean squadron, under Commodore Preble, Barron and Rodgers. Engaged in war with Tripoli, 1803-05.
- 1812
 Aug. 19 - Captured H. M. S. Gorstier.
 Dec. 29 - Captured H. M. S. Java.
- 1814
 Feb. 14 - Captured H. M. S. Picton.
 April 1 - Encapsid captured by two British frigates. Blockaded in Boston for eight months.
- 1815
 Feb. 20 - Captured H. M. S. Cyane and H. M. S. Levant.
- 1828-31
 In idleness at Boston. Condemned and ordered broken up or sold. Oliver Wendell Holmes' poem "Old Ironsides" aroused public indignation and saved her.
- 1844-46
 Cruise around world.
- 1871-76
 Rebuilt at Philadelphia navy yard.
- 1878-79
 Carried United States exhibits to Havre for Paris Exposition. Last cruise to foreign waters.
- 1879-81
 Last active cruise. Training ship for apprentice boys.
- 1897-1907
 Towed to Boston for her centennial. Laid up on exhibition. Recommended in 1905 that she be used for a target, but public indignation prevented such action.
- 1926-31
 Rebuilding at Navy yard, Boston. Went into commission July 1, 1931, completely restored at total cost of about $800,000 raised largely by school children's donations.
- 1933
 On tour of Pacific ports of United States.

OLDEST SHIP IN U.S. NAVY

The Constellation, oldest ship in the American Navy, is moved from Pier 4 to Pier 7 in the Baltimore harbor. The Constellation, built in 1797, a sister ship of the Constitution, will undergo overhaul, including redecking.

Lil Was a Legend

Diamond Tooth Glitters in Grave

CLAREMONT (AP) — "Diamond Tooth Lil," whose toothy grin revealed a diamond imbedded in a big, gold incisor, was a legend of the Golden West.

The Austrian-born woman, who died Sunday at 89, came to the United States before the turn of the century, dancing her way across the country and settling in San Francisco.

As a showgirl and hotel operator she counted some of the most notorious gamblers and gun slingers among her friends, including a convicted murderer, Diamondfield Jack Davis, who became one of her nine husbands.

Her real name was Evelyn F. Hildegard. She was known for the diamonds she loved, especially the one embedded in her gold tooth. She always claimed she won it betting on a horse race with a Reno, Nev., dentist.

"I used to have diamonds on every finger and hanging around my neck," she said in a 1963 interview. "When I was broke I'd hock them."

She said she once drank champagne with a former Prince of Wales, in New York.

Diamond Lil's career as a business woman included operating hotels and rooming houses in San Francisco, Boise, Idaho, and Seattle, Wash. She retired in 1943 at Boise, where she operated the Star Room.

She died in obscurity she had never known in life, at the Claremont Sanitarium, of natural causes. Services were pending.

CYCOL

Cyclol sold at stations and garages is the same Cyclol that lubricates and protects all of the navy equipment - not just turbines, but airplanes, trucks, the intricate machinery in submarines, cruisers, etc.

In a scientific impartial test the Navy measured the efficiency of all motor oil. For three consecutive years the Navy has made this test. For three years the Navy has checked this "test" in actual use and for 3 years the Navy has used Cyclol.

Do you need better proof of the quality of Cyclol? Highest in efficiency yet it costs you only 25c a quart.
